

Year 12 Psychology summer homework 2019

You need to research the different types of experimental methods used in Psychology. These are a laboratory experiment, a natural experiment, a quasi experiment and a field experiment

- For each of the above, you need to describe each method and write the strengths and weaknesses of using that method in research.
- The poster can be done on the computer or can be handwritten and it needs to be between 300-500 words.