

National Exam Contingency Day

Wednesday 23rd June 2027

Students taking GCSE's, AS or A Levels this year should be available from the date of their first exam up to and including Wednesday 23rd June 2027. This is in case one of their exams has to be rearranged because of major regional or national disruption.

A contingency date is set in the event the exam board have to make an essential change to the exam timetable that cannot be accommodated earlier. However, a postponed exam could be arranged for any day in the exam period.

This is not a school decision and applies to all students in all schools nationally.